Special to Pittsburgh Press.

HARRISBURG, April 15, 1874.

SENATE.

The Senate passed finally the act to provide for the incorporation of banks, and also reconsidered the bill relating to the care of the criminal insane, and passed it finally.

The appropriation of ten thousand dollars for the Indiana Normal School was also passed.

HOUSE.

Bills were read in place as follows:

Mr. Myer, of Bradford, introduced and had passed a resolution to adjourn on the 15th of May.

Mr. Bates, To pay the troops employed in putting down the riot at Susquehanna Depot.

Mr. Henry, For the removal of the records of the Criminal Court of Cambria county.

Mr. Wainwright, A further supplement to the act regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in Allegheny county.

The House considered bills on first reading and passed a number of unimportant ones; such as fixing the compensation of bridge viewers, authorizing the Governor to fill vacancies in the office of Aldermen, for the relief of Richard Budd and Abram Troxel, soldiers of 1812, authorizing common carriers to sell goods. The act granting additional compensation to county treasurers was defeated.

The act regulating medical practice, preventing all persons from practicing unless they shall have regularly graduated, created considerable discussion. All the doctors in the House rallied to its support. Doctors DeWitt, Piper, Cressler, Bailey and Smith spoke in favor of the bill, which went up to second reading.

A resolution to pay for Purdon's Digest occasioned an amount of filibustering by parties who were anxious to keep the books and vote against paying for them. The resolution passed—63 to 19.

A supplement to the Game laws, authorizing county treasurers to pay a bounty on the scalps of certain animals, came up and became the subject of all kinds of amendments, to include catamounts, wild cats, panthers, wolves, et al., with a proviso that it should not apply to wolves in sheep's clothing, &c., &c.

Speaker McCormick took the House to task for frittering away their time, and suggested that they had better adjourn if they could not improve.

Suiting the action to the word, he slapped down the gavel and adjourned the House.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

HARRISBURG, April 14, 1874.

The Senate, this morning, took up its calendar, and disposed of all the bills on third reading. Mr. McClure's bill, for the admission of the criminal insane to the State hospitals was defeated, yeas 15, nays 10; and not having the constitutional vote of 17, it fell. A reconsideration will be moved to-morrow, when it will probably pass. The following bills also passed finally:

Senate bill fixing the salaries of the several State officers of this Commonwealth, the number of clerks employed in the several departments, and their compensation, and providing for the incidental expenses of said departments.

Senate bill to authorize the courts to confirm the title to lands where the conveyances are defective and where the purchase money has been paid.

Senate bill supplement to an act relating to counties and townships, and county and township officers, approved April 15, 1834.

House bill making appropriation to Philadelphia Society to Alleviate the Miseries of Public Prisons.

Senate bill relating to Criminal Courts in Philadelphia.

Senate bill to repeal the third section of an act entitled An act for the making of a State road in the counties of Schuylkill and Dauphin, approved the 7th day of April, A. D. 1869, and the supplement to the said act, approved the 27th day of February, A. D. 1872.

The Senate non-concurred in the House amendments to Senate bill No. 44, an act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain private corporations.

On motion of Mr. Wallace the consideration of Senate bill entitled A further supplement to an act relative to suits in dower and partition, approved the 20th day of February A. D. 1854, and its supplement, approved the 30th day of March, A. D. 1869, postponed on third reading, was resumed. The bill was amended by unanimous consent, and passed.

In the House the following bills passed finally:

House bill to provide for an appropriation to the State Hospital for the Insane at Warren. Appropriates $150,000 to the hospital.

Senate bill relating to affidavits of defense.

House bill to empower the several courts of this Commonwealth to vacate roads, streets, lanes and alleys, which have been laid out thirty years and not opened. Amended by striking out thirty years and inserting five years.

House bill relating to the estates of decedents.

House bill relative to burial grounds situated in incorporated boroughs.

House bill providing for the construction of sewers by and in incorporated boroughs.

House bill supplement to an act entitled An act granting a pension to Henry Fix.

[The pensioner was a member of Col. Thomas' regiment, and received injuries by a collision on the Cumberland Valley Railroad, near Harrisburg.]

House bill to repeal an act to prohibit the issuing of licenses in the borough of Braddock, township of Versailles, &c., so far as relates to the borough of Braddock.

The Compulsory Education bill came up in the House on third reading, and gave rise to considerable debate. It compels the attendance of children at school at least twelve weeks in the year, under a penalty of not less than 50 cents nor more then $5.

Mr. Oliver delivered an elaborate speech in favor of the bill, giving a description of the school systems of the several European governments where education is compulsory, complimenting particularly that obtaining in the governments of Prussia, Wurtemburg and Switzerland. He hoped the House would pass the bill.

Mr. Brockway fully agreed with Mr. Oliver on the principles of the bill, but he thought the time had not yet arrived for its adoption in our State; and that the bill itself would work its own defeat.

Several amendments were proposed, but the House refused to accept them, or go into Committee of the Whole.

Mr. McCreery pointed out several objections to the bill, which he thought would prove fatal to its successful operation if it became a law.

Mr. Campbell was in favor of the bill, but thought it should be perfected in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Baily entertained similar views. He was by no means opposed to any measure looking to the education of the people, but he thought this bill should be perfect before it became a law. The bill was then negatived.

This vote was afterwards reconsidered, and the bill put on final passage, when it was again defeated, yeas 34, nays 50.

At the afternoon session, the bill to erect Lincoln University, in Chester county, into a Normal School for colored children, came up on third reading, and stirred up a strong discussion. Mr. Hays, of Pittsburgh, made a stirring speech in opposition to it as making a discrimination inimical to the colored people, and he asked unanimous consent to amend the bill by striking out all in the bill making the school a special normal school for colored teachers; but the friends cried "No!" and forced a vote on the bill, which resulted, yeas 41, nays 46. Most of the Democrats voted aye and most of the Republicans voted no; and after the bill had been thus disposed of, its friends began to get in through their wool that they had better have permitted it to have been amended as proposed by Mr. Hays. A reconsideration was accordingly moved, and the bill amended so as to make the University an additional State Normal School, striking out the part making it a special school for colored people, and in that shape it passed third reading. Mr. Hays thus carried his point, after all.

The House concurred, 67 to 15, in the amendments made by the Senate to the bill defining what are to be considered as the necessary expenses of candidates for public office, and the bill now goes to the Governor.

The amendments made by the Senate to the bill relative to the compensation of county treasurers were further amended by the House and go back to the Senate. SPECIAL.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Erie Railroad Directors was held today. President Watson reported the execution of the contract with the London banking associations for the issue of fifteen millions bonds of the company. President Watson again denied the truthfulness of the charge made by ex-Auditor Dunan.

TORNADO IN NASHVILLE

THE CITY SWEPT FROM END TO END.

HOUSES UNROOFED AND THROWN DOWN.

GREAT LOSS OF PROPERTY AND, PROBABLY, OF LIFE.

NASHVILLE, April 15.—A tornado passed over and through the city from West to East, at 12:30 this morning, doing an immense amount of damage. It struck the city at the fair grounds, passing diagonally through the city and out by the University and Mt. Olive Cemetery. Its width seems to have been about a quarter of a mile. After passing the fair ground, it struck the exposition building and the Maxwell House, seriously damaging the former. The front of the Academy of Music, J. H. Frith's grocery store, Darney's wholesale liquor establishment, and several other smaller buildings near the corner of Broad and Cherry, were crushed. The front windows of Hurley Bros. and Housen & Co.'s four-story buildings, near the same locality, were crushed in. Beadle's livery stable, containing an immense amount of feed, wagons, horses and cotton, was blown off its foundations and into the backwater, drawing several horses, and, it is thought, one man. Parisher's livery stable, on College street, in the rear of Beadle's, was seriously damaged, besides several feed stores and small negro dwellings. It passed from there, crushing in the front of a colored Methodist church next the Medical College, taking a portion of its roof from there to the magnificent residence of Jeff. Parrish, moving the whole of the roof out of place. At this hour it is impossible to enumerate the number of buildings damaged, or the loss, which will exceed one hundred thousand dollars. Many poor colored and white families are rendered homeless. It is feared there has been serious damage to property, and loss of life along its track. The telegraph lines are prostrated all along its course, from Union City to Nashville.

XLIII. CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15, 1874.

SENATE.

Before the reading of the journal of yesterday was concluded, the Clerk of the House of Representatives appeared at the bar of the Senate and announced that the House had passed, without amendment, the bill of the Senate to fix the amount of United States notes and the circulation of national banks and for other purposes; also, that the House had passed a bill amendatory of the acts to provide a national currency and to establish free banking. The latter bill was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The House bill making an appropriation for the payment of teachers in the public schools of the District of Columbia, and providing for the levy of a tax to reimburse the same, was taken up. It provides for an appropriation of $97,750 out of the national Treasury to pay the teachers' salaries from September, 1873, to March, 1874, and that the District government shall levy and collect a tax on personal property to reimburse the Treasury. The bill also provides that the money shall be disbursed under the direction of the Superintendent of Education.

Mr. STOCKTON offered an amendment to strike out the portion requiring the levy and collection of taxes on personal property to raise the means to reimburse the Treasury, and insert in lieu thereof a provision that the money should be returned out of the tax on real estate for school purposes to be collected.

Mr. STOCKTON'S amendment was defeated—yeas 30, nays 27. The bill was then passed.

Mr. BOREMAN introduced a bill to reimburse the State of West Virginia for moneys expended in arming and equipping militia to aid in suppressing the rebellion. Referred.

Mr. CONKLING presented the memorial of the Buffalo Board of Trade for the removal of the bar in the Saginaw river. Referred.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the bill to provide for a new election in Louisiana.

Mr. WEST said that all the information the Senate was in possession of, was in regard to the form of the election of November, 1872, and did not relate to fact. It would be an arbitrary assumption of power, without a proper knowledge of the facts, for Congress to order a new election. He spoke at length, and concluded by saying that not a particle of testimony had been brought forward to show that Kellogg was not elected, and, until such fact be proven, Congress had no right of authority to interfere.

Mr. CARPENTER said he had seen a telegram from New Orleans, stating that although the Legislature of Louisiana had passed an act repealing the Election law, it had, on the last day of the session, re-enacted it.

Mr. WEST said he had no knowledge of such proceeding.

Mr. HAMILTON, of Maryland, said that, being a member of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, he deemed it his duty to say something upon Louisiana affairs generally. The facts differed from those in any preceding case, and were filled with evidences of fraud, tyranny and corruption.

Mr. WEST read a telegram from Governor Kellogg, stating that he had been informed that some of the "last ditchers" had telegraphed to Senator Carpenter that he (Kellogg) had a bill before him to repeal the new Election law. The statement, he said, was false, and they could have a fair election under the new law.

Mr. HAMILTON read a communication signed by J. C. Zachary, of New Orleans, asserting that Kellogg had in his possession a new bill which would give him control of the whole election machinery.

Mr. MORTON said he had never heard of this until now.

Mr. WEST said he had no knowledge of any such thing, but even if it was so, the charge came from the other side of this Chamber, and the complaint of using the election machinery came with rather bad grace from that side.

Mr. BAYARD said that if any meaning could be gathered from the remarks of the Senator from Louisiana (West) it was an admission that such repealing act had been passed, and subsequently an act passed repealing the repealing act, so that they can be produced from the pocket of this so-called Governor on the eve of an election and all the machinery which make frauds in elections be not only possible, but highly probable, if Kellogg should be permitted to occupy the place he now does.

Mr. WEST—The Senator from Louisiana does not admit anything of the kind.

Mr. BAYARD—No, sir; he does not admit it; he has not the candor to state the fact; he merely says he does not know as to facts. He is professing to speak from special knowledge of the truth of facts in Louisiana, and says here today, in regard to this most important fact, that he has no knowledge whatever.

Mr. WEST—And he says the truth. He has no knowledge of it. He does not qualify it in any way. He never heard of it. It is new to him. That is what I mean without equivocation or reservation in any way.

Mr. BAYARD—It is a confession of ignorance, sir, in regard to important facts of which the gentleman professes to speak.

Mr. HAMILTON resumed, but, before concluding his argument, the Senate went into Executive session, and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. BUNDY, from the Committee on Mileage, reported a bill to abolish mileage to members of Congress, and providing that they shall be paid their actual traveling expenses to and from Washington once each session. He demanded the previous question, which was not seconded—69 to 71.

Mr. MAYNARD moved to recommit the bill.

Mr. YOUNG moved to lay the bill on the table.

The House refused to lay the bill on the table—yeas 64, nays 169.

Mr. BUNDY again moved the previous question, and it was seconded. The motion to recommit was rejected.

The bill was then passed—yeas 186, nays 49.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Woodford in the chair, upon the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill.

Mr. COX offered a resolution reciting the existence of architectural defects in the new State Department building, and providing for a board of three architects to examine it. Referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

There was a good deal of usual discussion over the salaries of employees of the House, some of which were increased and some reduced. The item of $50,000 for folding documents was reduced to $25,000, and the number of folders limited to twenty. Only two pages of the bill were gone through.

The committee rose and the House adjourned.

IRONTON, OHIO.

Pension Attorney Held to Bail---Resumption of Lawrence Iron Works---An Unsound Church Tower.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

IRONTON, O., April 15, 1874.

R. D. Bevan, who was examined before United States Commissioner Shaw, to-day, charged with forgery in connection with a pension case, in which he was the attorney in 1869, was bound over to the United States Court in bond of fifteen hundred dollars.

Arrangements have been made by which it is expected that the Lawrence Iron Works will resume work in all their departments on Monday morning with the old hands. The precise scale of prices to be paid is unknown, but it is understood to be a little in advance of Pittsburgh prices.

The Presbyterian church tower, which last week began to settle with symptoms of falling, is being taken down. The necessary cost of tearing down and rebuilding will probably amount to twenty-five hundred dollars, and necessitate some months delay in completing the church.

STATE LEGISLATURES.

Ohio.

COLUMBUS, April 15.—In the Senate this morning, a resolution was adopted for the adjournment of the General Assembly till April 20. The House bill to redistrict the State into Congressional districts was defeated—yeas 16, nays 17. All of the Republicans, and Messrs. Sheppard, Terrill and Fisher, Democrats, voted against the bill. The vote by which the bill failed to pass was afterwards reconsidered, and the bill laid on the table.

In the House, a bill was introduced to authorize the incorporation of Granges. A resolution was adopted, providing for the investigation of the public works of the State, report to be made at the next session. The Senate joint resolution for adjournment April 20th, was adopted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15, 1874.

How the President Views It.

The President, in conversation to-day, remarked that the Senate Finance bill now passed by both Houses of Congress, was not such a measure as he desired, but that he did not consider it as inflation. The House bill, he said, was good enough in some of its features but entirely ignored all provisions for responsible specie redemption. As an enrolled copy of the new bill had not yet reached the President, he had not definitely determined what action he would take with regard to it. The President thought that to the Senate bill was unobjectionable; that, though it might not be so acceptable to the banks as the present plan, it was certainly better for the interests of the people, as it strengthened the home banks for every emergency. Taken in its practical bearing, the President thinks favorably of the amendment alluded to, as an offset to the $46,000,000 increased national bank circulation authorized by the bill. In respect to the

to four hundred million, the other principal feature of the bill, the President considers the forty-four millions as part of the already existing legal tender circulation, but that the amount was held in reserve for an emergency. The use of money previously sanctioned by law, he thinks, can hardly be considered inflation, provided the Secretary of the Treasury have power to withdraw it when it shall have answered its purpose; but to make it a part of the permanent legal tender circulation, is inflation. The President appreciates the necessities of the country, but, as the question has been opened, it is now the part of wisdom to lay down a broad and safe policy looking to specie payment. He thinks that a single step back, at this juncture, will undo all that has been accomplished in the five years of his administration, in applying every available dollar to the reduction of the indebtedness of the government, thus raising the legal tenders to a closer relation with gold.

In Speaking of the House Bill,

the President thinks it incomplete, in that it neglects any recognition of ultimate specie-redemption as a means of reaching specie payment. The President believes in requiring the banks to surrender fifty per cent. of the interest on their bonds, that amount to be kept in the Treasury, and certificates of deposits issued therefor. This would make ten millions annually. He thinks that the government should also contribute its proportion, or about $15,000,000. This would aggregate twenty-five millions, or seventy-five millions in three years. This, taken in connection with the gold stored in the Treasury, say $90,000,000, would, he thinks, enable the government and the banks to resume. The President is not insensible to the fact that, as the law now exists, it is not for the interests of the banks to resume, and for this reason regards as necessary some specific legislation declaring specie resumption as the fixed aim of the policy of the government. He believes that to compel them to leave the coin interest in the Treasury, as part of the reserve which they are now required to leave there in legal tenders, would materially aid matters, and would be no special hardship to the banks, except the amount they would realize by selling the gold.

Finance in the Senate.

It is understood that the Senate Finance Committee will to-morrow consider the House Currency bill, and will probably make some amendments. The inflationists in the Senate will endeavor to recover the ground lost by the Scott amendment to the Senate bill.

The Transportation Report.

The Senate Committee on Transportation now say they will positively present their report on Monday. The main features of these reports have already been given in these dispatches. The committee have not yet decided on the Georgia and Virginia lines, and are still in doubt as to whether water or land lines would be preferable. The committee incline in the direction of water lines.

Indian Outrages in Texas.

The House Committee on Indian Affairs have been investigating depredations on the western and northern borders of Texas, and find that, in the past two years, one hundred thousand cattle have been stolen and many of them sold back to Indian contractors; also that women and children have been carried into captivity. The committee will report in favor of the appointment of a commission to take testimony on the spot.

Legislative Appropriation Bill.

The House, after inflating the currency and passing the Banking and Currency bills, to-day resumed the consideration of the Legislative Appropriation bill, which has not been up since the 19th day of March.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15, 1874.

REPRESENTATIVE HARMER'S CONNECTION WITH CONTRACTS IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

In the District of Columbia investigation to-day, A. M. Gibson, correspondent of the New York Sun, was called and questioned as to his authority for stating in his correspondence that A. C. Harmer, Member of Congress from Philadelphia, and other members of Congress, were interested in the contracts of the District. He refused to answer. The committee decided the question to be a proper one, and gave Gibson notice that he must be ready to answer to-morrow, or on Friday at the farthest. Mr. Harmer made a sworn statement that he was not interested in any contract or in the profit of any contract; that he was not a stockholder in the Metropolitan Paving Company, and had no knowledge of the existence of any corruption.

RUM AND MISERY.

A Woman Starved to Death in Corry—A Drunken Husband to Blame.

A letter of date Corry, April 14, to the Titusville Herald, gives the following particulars of a horrible case just brought to light in that town:

The people in the eastern part of the city are considerably excited over the death, under what are considered suspicious circumstances, of a Mrs. Cowden, which took place on Saturday morning last. She, with her husband, one Charles Cowden, and two children, resided on East Main street, in a miserable shanty scarcely fit to shelter cattle. Mr. Cowden is a shoemaker by trade, and was able to earn a respectable living for himself and family; but instead of providing for the wants of his wife and children he squandered his wages in drinking. He was absent from home when his wife died, she being left entirely alone with the children, one of which was not more than two years old, and the other about five. When Cowden returned some time in the forenoon, he found his wife dead, and called in some of the neighbors. A scene of destitution scarcely to be believed presented itself. The shanty was nearly destitute of furniture or eatables. There was no fire, and no wood with which to build one. The woman did not possess a single dress or article of underclothing, being literally clothed in rags; and what is worst of all, it is believed the youngest child had actually nursed its mother's breast after she was dead! The family had been partially provided for during a portion of the winter from the poor fund. The neighbors allege that the woman's death was caused by the neglect and cruel treatment of her husband, and that she was really starved to death! Accordingly Coroner Vincent, of Erie, was to-day notified, and issued an order for Cowden's arrest. He is now confined in the city lock-up to await the result of an investigation, which will be held at nine o'clock to-morrow morning. It is probable that the body of the unfortunate woman will be disinterred and a post mortem examination made. The District Attorney is expected from Erie to-night.

THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1874.

PETITIONS are constantly pouring in on Congress, praying for specific duties in place of ad valorem ones. The Treasury is said to favor this change.

"LOUISIANA," says the Graphic, "has a powerful enemy to overcome in General Indifference, which has possession of Congress." But he baffles General Anarchy, don't you see?

THE New York Herald is to be commiserated. It is dissatisfied with the administration, dissatisfied with Congress, and dissatisfied with Republicanism—it is, however, profoundly pleased with itself. Hence the country may be still be considered safe.

IT is now generally understood in well-informed opposition quarters that the snow, rains, and fogs which have troubled the country since the beginning of the month are due to the prevalence of "GRANTISM," and that suicides, shipwrecks, and small-pox have the same origin. We feared the malcontents would eventually get at the secret.

THE Massachusetts Democracy, feeling jubilant over the results of the recent elections in New Hampshire and Connecticut, have "organized for victory." Considering the overwhelming Republican vote in the Bay State, reaching full 135,000 on a full vote, this reorganization of Democratic enthusiasts may be regarded as the best joke of the season.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer jubilantly declares that the victory gained by the Democracy of that city, in the late election, was "as glorious as any that has been achieved since Blenheim." When it is recollected that the "victory" in question was purely and simply a free whisky success, the proud elation of our contemporary will be quite readily accounted for.

THE New York Tribune chuckles over its "enterprise" in publishing the suppressed speech of Senator SUMNER; quite unable to discern the truth that there is a limit to all enterprise, and that among those limits which should be fixed firm and immovable are respect for the rights and courtesies of private life, and reverence and silence over the secrets of the grave.

THE Philadelphia North American of Monday publishes the official tables of the foreign imports of that port for March. The exhibit shows a total of $3,365,313 direct, and $41,562 indirect, being a decided increase in the direct trade and a corresponding falling off in the indirect trade. Of the direct trade there arrived in American vessels $2,586,130, and in foreign vessels $779,188. From England the imports were $1,380,856; from Cuba $1,321,847, and from Italy $169,647.

THE New York World declares that "the principles of the Democratic party, essential, avowed, necessary, are expressed in the words free trade, hard money, home rule." In view of the fact that the tariff increased the investment in manufactures from $1,009,000,000 in 1860, to $2,118,000,000 in 1870, while the national wealth increased $13,909,000,000, and $200,000,000 were added to the revenues, we should be pleased to hear the Post's opinion concerning the free trade dogma thus authoritatively promulgated by the Democratic Pope.

THE Committee on Civil Service Reform have, it appears, agreed to report an amendment to the general Appropriation bill declaring that no more money shall be appropriated, and no more officials shall be detailed, to carry out the provisions of the Civil Service Commission as at present constituted. Should this amendment be adopted by the House, the commission, with its competitive examinations, will expire at the end of the present fiscal year, and we are by no means certain but that the country would be benefited by its death. Taken in the main, the experiment has unquestionably proved a failure, the service have profited nothing whatever from it.

THE attention of the opposition, anti-nepotism press generally is respectfully invited to the alarming fact that Governor ALLEN, of Ohio, has recently appointed three brothers-in-law of his nephew, Senator THURMAN, to office in that State, and that the new Democratic officers of the State Penitentiary have given their nephews subordinate offices in that institution. Remembering what a howl of disapprobation went up from these "unco good" papers whenever the President happened to appoint one of his relatives to office, the perfect silence which they now maintain concerning the same practice, on the part of another, is, to say the least, not a little remarkable, and strongly suggests there is, or has been, a good deal of insincerity somewhere.

THE other day we quoted the significant admission of one of the Virginia papers, to the effect that the money annually squandered in intoxicating liquors by the people of that State, would pay off its public debt, principal and interest, within three or four years. Here, too, is Georgia, another Bourbon State, whose sullen complaint of being utterly impoverished in consequence of "Federal tyranny," is met and squelched by statistics which show the expenditure of $25,328,565 for the same purpose. Nor is there any doubt but that an almost equally prodigal waste of money goes on year by year in other Southern States. The wonder is, not that they should be impoverished and depressed, but that they should so strenuously and blindly persist in attributing their ill fortunes to the wrong cause.

THE Senate Transportation Committee have prepared, for presentation with their forthcoming report, a statement in regard to the quantity of grain, in bushels, sent from Russia and the United States, respectively, to Great Britain in two periods of four years, as follows:

	1860-64.	1868-72.
From United States	127,047,125	116,462,300

This exhibit shows that Russia is fast becoming a formidable competitor with us for the European grain trade. A new railroad, also, has recently been completed in that empire, between Odessa, on the Black Sea, to Kœnigsberg, on the Baltic, a distance of somewhat over nine hundred miles, while several branch roads are in process of construction, tapping the great grain-growing regions and affording ample facilities for the transportation of crops to the seaboard. Hence the importance of lessening the cost of moving grain from our own West to the Atlantic ports, if we would compete successfully in European markets in the future, becomes clearly apparent.

CONSPIRATORS CONVICTED.

A trial of more than ordinary interest and importance to the general public lately took place before the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford county. It was a case of alleged conspiracy, in which the proprietor of a newspaper, Mr. ALLEN, of the Titusville Courier, was plaintiff, and the defendants were certain members of the Titusville Printers' Union. Five or six months ago the Union having ordered "a strike against a proposed reduction of wages and against being paid in orders on Titusville merchants," Mr. ALLEN yielded to their demand as to wages, but rejected the other demand, asserting his right to pay his employees as he chose. While the subject was under consideration, at least before the Union had received this answer, Mr. ALLEN telegraphed to Pittsburgh for non-Union printers. This dispatch having become known to the Union, its officers issued a circular in which they warned members of the society everywhere not to come to Titusville, and they also appointed a committee whose duty it should be to prevent printers from taking work at the Courier office, a duty which the committee fulfilled, to the serious detriment of the proprietor. He therefore prosecuted the printers for conspiracy, but at their first trial the jury were unable to agree. Tried a second time, they have been convicted, and from Judge LOWRIE's charge, published in the Crawford Journal, one derives a sufficiently clear notion of the facts and law upon which the case was decided.

Judge LOWRIE usually, we believe, goes to the foundations of whatever subject, whether metaphysical, theological or legal, he undertakes to investigate, and certainly this charge is no exception to the usage. He regards the case as involving some of the most important principles of man's social and moral nature and as calling for broad and careful consideration. Having indicated malicious intent as an essential element in the crime of conspiracy, and having specified a number of the objects for which men in the same occupation may advantageously and lawfully combine, Judge LOWRIE affirms combinations to raise or depress wages or prices to be dangerous in their tendency, dangerous to those engaged in them because they tend unduly to excite and cultivate the selfish principles of our nature which, like our other principles grow in intensity and force the more they are exercised. The selfishness cultivated by such unions is neither less real nor less mischievous because the members contrive and toil for the exclusive interest of a class. In fact, the interest of the class is merely identified with that of the individual as the interest of the individual is identified with that of the class, and is even more exclusive, jealous, suspicious, tyrannical and remorseless in its claims and exactions than naked, self-confessed egotism.

But no synopsis which it is in our power to give would do any measure of justice to Judge LOWRIE's elaborate and masterly presentation of the dangers and mischiefs of these organizations in which selfishness may be reduced to a system and assiduously cultivated. Of course the Judge speaks only of tendencies and would not wish to be understood as holding that such combinations have not sometimes been so regulated as to answer legitimate and useful purposes. Probably, however, most readers of the charge will be inclined to regard its statements as for the most part true, verified in the working of those labor unions in this country at least, which have become well known to the public. The ascendancy of narrow selfishness in their councils has been so frequently and unmistakably displayed that few who have paid attention to the strikes of the last score of years can hesitate to accept Judge LOWRIE's analysis as substantially correct.

Taking up the particular "combination" on trial, the Typographical Union, the Judge called particular attention to several articles of its constitution. According to one of them, one object of the association is "the regulation of prices and all other things appertaining to the management of the printing business within its jurisdiction." The power thus claimed is, as the Judge remarked, a power which even the Legislature cannot either give or exercise. The reason is obvious. Such a power cannot be exercised without prejudice to some portion of society, while it would be dangerous to the freedom of all in the conduct of their business. But the society which assumes this power holds its sessions in secret, without the presence of an employer to represent the interest of his class, and may attach any penalty it can enforce to disregard of its resolutions.

Another object of the Union is "the regulation of the apprenticeship system." Hence an employer, under this regulation, is not at liberty to place his own son as an apprentice in his own office, without the consent of the Union. A strike may be the penalty of independence. But, says Judge LOWRIE, "no set of men can be allowed to interfere with your lawful plans of life, because they may suppose that they thereby benefit their own."

The habit of the Union in stigmatizing expelled members with odious names, etc., the Judge apparently regards as a feature of an unlawful combination. These and other features of the Union were pointed out as indications of its character and as affording a certain assistance in interpreting the proceedings upon which the charge of conspiracy was founded. The attempt of a single person to injure others in their business is not criminal in the eye of the law, though it may be the cause of a civil action for damages. But any attempt by combined numbers of men to injure the lawful business of any others, with evident malicious intent, is a conspiracy and renders them liable to the penalties of the law. It is, said Judge LOWRIE, the combined intention to injure that colors the act with criminality, and on the evidence produced in the case before him, the Judge thought that the combination to do the act complained of could hardly be doubted. The jury agreed with him, and as already stated, the printers were convicted of the offense with which they were charged. The evidence in its details we need not repeat.

FROM ERIE, PA.

The New Mayor—An Elegant Business Block—Petroleum Railroad—Political—Hon. Henry C. Johnson.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

ERIE, PA., April 13, 1874.

Spring, with the accompaniments of opening tulips, hyacinths, callas, &c., joining the robins in their sweet praise and apparent joy, is upon us. And not alone in these do we note it, but in opening, days since, of our harbor, the departures and arrivals of white-winged messengers of commerce, the commencement of out-door work generally, and not least the annual spring election of the Mayor of your only lake, and our vigorous thriving city, in the person of Hon. Henry Rawle, as we advised you by telegraph at the time. And, just here, we feel pleased to be able to say that he is one possessed of such qualifications, experience and sense as must not only greatly enhance his good standing among his townspeople, but add to that already enviable reputation years of experience in the Shenango Valley iron interest and various railroad enterprises hereabouts has given him. He is the leading spirit in our iron manufacturing interests here now. With our city water works and other municipal interests he has been largely identified, and not least to him does Erie owe their great excellence and value. More anon.

We are pleased to learn, from semi-official sources, of the probable early construction of the Petroleum Railroad, giving us another route to oildom. Partially built, its completion would add largely to our local interests, and as a hopeful prospective avenue in part to the bituminous coal fields, is intensely desired by very many of our people and interests.

One of the finest business blocks in the State is rapidly approaching completion on State street, corner of Tenth; iron front, six stories high, admitting of two fine stores on the first floor, very wide with high ceiling, and a depth of about one hundred and sixty feet. It would ornament any avenue, and is a great honor to its projector and builder, Hon. William L. Scott.

Politically we are not quiet. Our corner seems early to have begun Congressional and other issues, if we may say the first-named did not continue over from the last year's. It is time Erie county shook off her lethargy, and in representative positions placed sons worthy of her and her proud Republican record. Too long the lever for others to foist themselves by, than her own, and not quite as choice as she should be, who of them. What has she tolerated since 1860? Look at the treachery of party and honor, the selling the noble birthright and honored place as her representative for official and other considerations, to the humiliation and disgrace of every comrade in our ranks. It is time a realization was reached of our true situation and men of only known and acknowledged integrity in party and out, put in position. As a legitimate sequence of over half a score years of continued success, there has crept into some official corners political lizards that breathe poison into all they touch. These must be rooted out, and the sooner our great party demands an unconditional surrender of place by them, the better for it. They are foreign, in every impulse, to the tendencies and aspirations of true Republicanism. That this sentiment is governing somewhat, now, is the invigorating, life-giving fact that is so surely sustaining our party. In Northwestern Pennsylvania, if not much more than in any other part, has this evil for some years reaped its natural result in great disorganization, and, in some districts, absolute defeat. The grand old county of Crawford was thus wrung from us, though a few brave hearts manfully withstood the unheard of recreancy and rout. Among the faithful a born leader and an accomplished lawyer and gentleman, stood the genial visage and commanding form of Hon. Henry C. Johnson, of Meadville. Faithful to his party, earnest in advocating her principles and eloquent in their defense, with his untiring energy and natural generalship, he manfully withstood the overtures of place and power, and fought the good fight, as never before it was or soon will be, bringing the faithful out of it covered with honors if not success. To such as he should recognition be given, and Erie county Republicans rejoice to know that our great Captain has called him to the front. As Commissioner of Customs he will be an honor to the administration, and efficiently valuable to the service. We trust his acceptance will not cause his forgetfulness of his old comrades, who will yet need his encouraging counsels to lead them to victory. Tried and true, such men alone can purify the party, and lead to victory. Many times, however, by place from the people, they will want his services more. It is to be hoped the great scandal of all has been removed, and that it can be no longer said by our enemies, as in the past a notorious fact in Northwestern Pennsylvania, that official place has been used for aggrandizement of a few and persecution, in the name of law, for some. There can be but one result; truth will rise, and temporary suppressions will only serve to fan into new frenzy the indignation of the people. Men's lives are public property, and especially those in official places, and no party or set of men can long continue their unjust practices.

When perjury and fraud are attempted, and innocent tools obtained by false pretensions and threatened with the penitentiary if they do not play their part, in convicting political rivals or opponents—when this stage is reached, the cry for reform in the party must and will be heard, or it will be destroyed by itself; and with recent changes we trust we see no doubtful sign of a better time and still greater purity. The laws are made, not to oppress, but to protect, and character and virtue are not obselete. ERIE.

Justice.

MINERVA, O., April 14, 1874.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

We notice in a copy of the COMMERCIAL of the 8th inst. a communication from our village, over the signature of W. T. F., and for fear some of your readers may draw a wrong inference, or conclusion, from the correspondence, we write for the sake of all parties interested, and the temperance cause as well. We find no fault with the first part of the article whatever; it is true, so far as we are able to judge; but the latter part is quite exceptional.

We admit errare est humanum, but persons should be quite certain they are correct before they give advice. We should first well examine our own hearts and homes and see that we have no "golden wedge" hid there, in the shape of malice or malevolence. This a man can not harbor and be a Christian.

The druggists of our town have, we think, as good characters—both morally and professionally—as men usually have, and have shown every evidence of their sincerity in the cause of temperance as prosecuted by the women's movement, and with four or five exceptions, there are none in our village who have not the utmost confidence in their sincerity; but there is a characteristic disposition in some men to either rule or ruin, and there is an old adage that "where ignorance rules, it is folly to be wise," which might be quite applicable to this case:

"Now comes the point. Why need they pay twenty dollars (should be $25) license to sell liquor, when no license is required for their legitimate business? Now, let these and all other druggists who are doing likewise destroy their license and sell no more of the accursed stuff, except on prescription in accordance with the pledge they have signed. Then, and not till then, will they regain the confidence of the people of their several communities."

But "Quinti est sapere;" and we have the following for the edification of all concerned; and think it speaks volumes against the above advice:

U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE,
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, 17TH DIST., O.,
SALEM, April 9, 1874.

Druggists must pay the special tax as retail liquor dealers. Alcoholic liquors of any kind cannot be sold in any quantity or quantities, to any person, for any purpose without having first paid the special tax required by law, nor can a druggist sell on the prescription of a physician. Should it come to my knowledge that any druggist or physician sells alcoholic liquors, without having paid the special tax, I shall feel it my duty to prosecute him and shall certainly do so.

Yours respectfully,
JESSE DUCK, Collector.

Now, who is right, W. T. F. or Mr. Duck, the United States Revenue Collector? It is not wise to strain at a gnat and swallow "A. Campbell," and we have a very few men in our village that would sell what little principle they have for the sake of popularity; and if they have no auricular confidante to whom they can pour out the "abundance of their heart," they will show their ignorance by writing for a newspaper. We close by simply saying, in the language of the preacher, "Be not righteous over much, neither make thyself over wise. Why shouldst thou destroy thyself?"

The representatives of the several banks in Lebanon recently met and decided to act in concert in regard to the payment of interest on deposits, and pay three per cent. per annum for three months and over; five per cent. for one year. Early in the present year Rev. R. H. Williamson, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Wilkesbarre, was charged with visiting houses of ill-fame and with other conduct unbecoming a minister of the Gospel. He denied the charges, but the vestry, acting upon what they considered strong proof, deposed him from his pastorate, and lately appointed a committee of investigation, and last week Mr. Williamson appeared before them and confessed to his adulterous habits. No final action has yet been taken in regard to this case.

Three new members have been added to the Wheeler Iron Company, of West Middlesex, Mercer county, owners of the Fannie furnace, viz: T. Dwight Eells and John N. Since that time the furnace has been turning out a superior quality of iron, both for mill and foundry purposes. The new additions to the company are largely interested in the iron ore business. The name of the company remains the same, and Mr. Hiram Veach continues as business manager.

The first grange of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry in Lawrence county was organized on Monday, April 13, at New Castle, by State Deputy Battles, of Girard, Erie county, containing thirty charter members, composed of the best and most influential farmers of that section of the county. Sample; Assistant Steward, George W. Cameron; Gatekeeper, J. F. Wright; Secretary, A. H. English; Treasurer, S. S. Hawthorn; Ceres, Mrs. R. C. Wright; Pomona, Miss Mary Barge; Flora, Miss Jennie Pitzer; Lady Steward, Mrs. James Cochran.

The Chester Republican describes a popular game now in vogue in that town. It is called "Egg Hunting," and requires three persons to make it a success. A knowing chap offers to bet that he can hide, on the person of one of the by-standers—who is not so knowing—an egg which cannot be found by any one but the hider and the person upon whom it is concealed, and generally the "henberry" is placed in the hat of the person selected. "May I thump him as hard as I please?" the searcher asks of the person who has hidden the egg. "Just as hard as you please." A rousing slap on the top of the soft hat breaks the egg, and the innocent victim is led to understand the joke at the same moment. On Monday last, one gentleman, who was made the principal figure in the game, was compelled to use a bottle of Lubin's Extract on his locks—for, although the joke was new to him, the egg was a trifle too old.

On Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Wlihelmina Roerig, and her child, three years old, were found murdered at their residence in Hilltown township, Bucks county, and the supposed murderer was Dr. Henry Otto, a Philadelphian. He has since died, and is believed to have committed suicide. Mrs. Roerig separated from her husband two years ago and became Dr. Otto's housekeeper at his residence on Fourth street, below Thompson. Here she remained a year more, and then purchased a farm at Hilltown, to which she removed. There Dr. Otto visited her, and has made the house his home for several months. Letters arriving for him on Tuesday, they were carried from the station to the farm by a person who was unable to effect an entrance into the house. This led to a suspicion of foul play, and some of the neighbors forced an entrance. The body of the murdered child was discovered in one corner of an apartment, apparently strangled to death, and the mother was found with her throat cut, in Dr. Otto's sleeping apartment. She was in a kneeling position, close to the bed. Dr. Otto was in the bed, and on being questioned denied all knowledge of Mrs. Roerig and child. The coroner summoned a jury, and as the circumstances seemed to make out the murder of the child by the mother, and self-murder by her, such a verdict was rendered. Soon after this the doctor died. On his person he had Mrs. Roerig's pocket-book, containing $40 and a judgment note against himself for $2,100, of borrowed money. His death from supposed poisoning, and the finding of the woman's property in his possession, strengthens the belief that he was the guilty agent. The affair will undergo a more thorough investigation than it has yet received.

Should the old gentleman die his faithful partner would not long survive him, they are so dear to each other.

One of the New York Cremation Society's members having died, opportunely, the organization have practically applied their idea of disposing of the dead. A blast of hot air turned upon the encased body soon reduced it to man's original chaos, and now the father of the dead man has the ashes of the deceased neatly sealed in an urn and resting on his parlor mantelpiece. The expense of this manner of funeral and burial was less than five dollars.

Here he is! His name is O. H. Rounds, of Mount Tabor, Vermont. He is now eighty-six years old, remembers all the Governors of Vermont, and has seen most of them. He has voted sixty-three years. He never played a game of cards, smoked a pipe of tobacco, and never drank a glass of intoxicating liquor, nor paid a lawyer's fee or a doctor's bill for himself until after he was sixty years of age. Since his sixtieth year he has mown sixty acres of grass in a summer with a scythe, and last summer was able to do a good day's work in the hay field.

Our Changing Bodies.

Our bodies are constantly changing. The dead matter passes off by the bowels and the pores, and digestion and assimilation supply fresh material. This material cannot be pure, and consequently the body cannot be healthy unless the stomach and the secretive organs perform their allotted tasks thoroughly and regularly. That they may do so keep them in good working order with that most efficient of all invigorating, regulating and purifying preparations, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If you wish your blood to be really the "stream of life," to have your bones clothed with sound flesh, to be exempt from nervousness and debility, to be clear-headed and cheerful; in short, to possess that choicest of Heaven's blessings, a sound mind in a sound body, resort to the great vegetable restorative whenever you feel languid, or suffer from indigestion, or are bilious or low spirited, or suffering from any derangement of the animal functions. The relief is immediate, and full restoration certain.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, April 15, 1874.

The local money market keeps fairly supplied with funds for borrowers who can make satisfactory paper; still, there is a disposition on the part of the banks to withhold their funds for the present, except to customers who have a strong claim upon them. Outside lenders show a strong preference for mortgage bonds and those backed by ample collaterals, waiting long to be suited, and thereby losing by idleness the difference of interest which they gain in rate.

—From Washington we have report of the final passage of the Senate Finance bill by the House. For the benefit of those who have not followed the numerous amendments to the original bill reported by the Finance Committee, we give it in full.

The bill as passed, reads as follows:

That the maximum amount of United States notes is hereby fixed at $400,000,000.

SEC. 2. That $46,000,000 in notes for circulation in addition to such circulation now allowed by law shall be issued to national banking associations now organized, and which may be organized hereafter, and such increased circulation shall be distributed among the several States as provided in section first of the act entitled, "An act to provide for the redemption of the three per cent. temporary loan certificates, and for an increase of national bank notes," approved July 12, 1870; and each national banking association now organized or hereafter to be organized, shall keep and maintain as a part of its reserve required by law, one-fourth part of the coin received by it as interest on bonds of the United States, deposited as security for circulating notes on government deposits; and that hereafter only one-fourth of the reserve now prescribed by law for national banking associations shall consist of balances due to an association available for the redemption of its circulating notes from associations in cities of redemption, and upon which balances no interest shall be paid.

As to the workings of this measure there is a diversity of opinion. It does not definitely settle the status of the legal tenders. The Treasury asserts that it has the right to issue and retire at the discretion of the head of that Department, the $44,000,000 of legal tenders which heretofore it has so treated and denominated as "the reserve." If this be the intention of the Department it is not improbable that during the summer we may find that the legal tenders have been reduced to $356,000,000, the difference being held in "reserve." Under this construction of the new law the first section but legalizes the claim which the Treasury has been acting on for more than a year past.

The first clause of the second section apportions the new issue of $46,000,000 in the same manner as the $54,000,000 of 1870 was apportioned, about $5,000,000 of which still remains in the hands of the Department unissued. If those States entitled to this new issue of national currency are not more eager to take advantage of their privileges than they have been during the past two years, we may anticipate no rapid increase of circulation from this source.

The second clause of the second section is to be credited to Senator Scott of this State; the public are, seemingly, just awakening to the fact that this means rapid and sure contraction. This was obvious to every one familiar with the working of the present Currency act. Take for example the banks of this city, that now are compelled to have about $5,000,000 of reserve, of which amount $2,500,000 can be kept in New York, where they draw interest on their balances; under the new regulation they can keep but $1,125,000 of their reserve in the East and on this they are forbidden to receive interest. As a natural result they will prefer to keep the whole of their reserve in their vaults, carrying only such balances with their correspondents as are necessary for their daily business; thus there will be an actual contraction of the legal tender circulation in New York by the withdrawal of Pittsburgh balances of $2,500,000, without increasing the loaning powers of Pittsburgh banks one dollar. This will again reach our home banks who now hold among their loanable deposits one-half of the reserve of those country national banks that have their reserve agencies here.

The total immediate contraction of the greenback circulation will be made equal to the amount of new issue authorized by the first section of the bill. It will be but a repetition of the experience of the country over the withdrawal of the three per cent. certificates, when the foundation of the house was torn away to increase the superstructure. Excess of debt, rather than a lack of currency, seems to be the real trouble of the country at large; if there is anything to be learned from the past, the country has now more currency than it can use, more in proportion to present use and population, than even England, the broker of the world, possesses. In 1850 we had a population of 23,764,000, a circulation of notes of $150,000,000 and of coin $100,000,000, equal to $10 50 per head. In 1860 we had a population of 31,000,000 and a circulation of $350,000,000 coin and notes, equal to $11 30 per head. In 1870 we had a population of 38,000,000 and a circulation of $700,000,000 of notes, equal to $18 42 per head. The assessed wealth of 1850 was $7,135,000,000 and of 1870 $14,178,000,000, so that the increase of circulation appears disproportionate to both population and wealth. On the other hand, the note circulation of England amounts to only $6 50 per capita, and is actually less by $50,000,000 than it was in 1819.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY, April 15, 1874.

REMARKS.—The weather, ever a legitimate source for an item, was a little on the "rainy order" to-day. But then "April showers—sunny hours;" but we forbear.

There is slowly, but surely, a better feeling creeping into the general market of this city which will ere long be seen and felt by all. The cruel delays to settle the currency question at Washington has retarded and is still retarding the upward and onward movement of trade; but if Congress will not take care of the people the people will not only take care of themselves but Congress into the bargain.

With regard to the state of the market, so far as relates to prices and demands, we have few changes to note. As before remarked, retail dealers in the county have been shy of purchasing stocks under existing circumstances; hence they let their shelves become bare of goods. Now they must replenish or quit business. Chosing the latter alternative, they are daily putting in an appearance and are free purchasers. This has had a tendency to enliven trade in a good degree, and is, we trust, but the beginning of the end of the "good time coming," but so long delayed.

We have before noticed the changes in the prices of certain articles of bacon and provisions. The changes recently made were of the upward order, and it would not surprise us to have to chronicle still further movements in the same direction. The markets in the West are higher and firm, and dealers here having occasion to replenish their stocks will have to pay the increased tariff.

There is more firmness in the grain market, though it is far from exhibiting that elasticity and buoyancy which should characterize it at this season of the year. With light stocks and light demands, the trade in grain just now is light.

Flour is arriving freely, and dealers assure us that they can find ready sale for all good brands they can secure. They report an active local and country trade which they assert will not diminish until after the coming harvest is gathered, and its quality and quantity known. The flour mills of the city are running day and night, and find no difficulty in disposing of all the flour they make.

The stocks of apples, potatoes, etc., are becoming "fine by degrees and beautifully less." This, however, is but the natural order of things; the old must give way to the new.

The butter market is a shade weaker, and should the present "growing weather" continue, and there is every reason to believe that it will, we run but little risk in predicting that ere the close of the month "nice yellow, grass, butter;" put up in fancy prints, will be sold in this market at lower rates than those now prevalent.

It is generally conceded that eggs have touched the bottom price, and that no further reduction in price for a time may be looked for.

The seed market is not quite so active, owing to the fact that numbers of farmers and gardeners have supplied themselves. Still quite an active trade is being transacted in seeds and plants.

The rivers continue in fine navigable order, and steamers arrive and depart daily from the various wharves and landings. All the coal that could be made ready for shipment is either now at its destination or on its way thither.

Below we give the receipts of produce received by rail and river for the past twenty-four hours:

GROCERIES—Most dealers in this line report their trade quite active, and it is probable that a large business will be done during the coming month. The seasonable weather of the past few days has brought quite a number of merchants from the country into the market. The prospect for the future, however, depends quite largely on the state of the manufacturing interests of the country, particularly that of iron. We have no changes to note in prices, but quote all staples steady, most of them quite firm at quotations. There is nothing new to report as to the coffee "question." PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, April 16, 1874.

REMARKS—The oil market since our last has developed nothing new or important. Prices are nominally unchanged. Producers are again talking about shutting down a portion of the wells in order to curtail production, but whether it will amount to anything remains to be seen. STOCK MARKET.

Stocks opened weak and declined ¼ to ½ per cent. The decline was subsequently recovered, but during the last hours of business, and just previous to the close, the market was extremely weak, the prices showing a decline of ½ to 2½ per cent. from the opening rates. The leading features were Western Union, Pacific Mail, Lake Shore, New York Central, Union Pacific and Erie. The Wall street markets generally closed at the lowest point of the day, because the Senate bill is construed to mean a contraction of present banking facilities in all redemption cities. Sales of stock between 10 and 2 o'clock 180,000 shares, of which 40,000 were Western Union, 22,000 Union Pacific, 16,000 Pacific Mail, 15,000 New York Central, 35,000 Lake Shore, 6,500 St. Paul, 7,000 Northwest, 5,500 Erie. In addition to the above, about 50,000 shares changed hands between 2 and 3 o'clock, mostly Western Union, Pacific Mail, Lake Shore and Union Pacific.

MONONGAHELA—Eight feet six inches and rising.

Boats Advertised to Depart.

Cincinnati	Mary Miller	Oaks, 4 P. M.
St. Louis	Fearless Barge	10 A. M.

THE marks last evening, eight feet six inches and rising. The weather during the day was cloudy, with indication of rain. Trade on the landing was very dull.

THE Chas. Bodmann adds largely at Evansville.

THE Ashland is loading along the Arkansas for Cincinnati.

THE Andy Baum had to refuse freight at Evansville yesterday.

THE steamer Juniata, Captain Brennan, left Cincinnati for this port yesterday.

H. C. HIEATT, chief clerk of the La Belle, was married in Jefferson, Texas, last week.

THE wharfage collections at Vicksburg for the month of March amounted to $1,200.

THE Salvor Wrecking Company will raise the barge loaded with coke sunk at St. Louis.

THE Fearless and barges takes her departure this morning for St. Louis and way points at 10 A. M.

THE Pat Cleburne knocked out a cylinder head at Caseyville. She is repairing at Evansville.

IT IS stated that the net winnings of the steamer Natchez in the Louisville lottery foot up $8,000.

THE Allegheny river was reported rising yesterday at Oil City, with five feet six inches in the channel.

THE Wild Duck and barges, Captain C. F. Adams, is announced for St. Louis, and will have dispatch.

THE Fontenelle arrived at Sioux City on Wednesday, eighteen days from St. Louis. She was to start on Thursday for Benton.

THE Belle Yazoo, Big Sunflower and Gasconade are all lying up at Vicksburg on account of the high water in the tributaries.

THE steamer Messenger, Captain Cox, left for Nashville with a fair trip and engagements below. Pilots—Wm. Gaslee and N. Witten.

CAPT. I. R. WHITAKER arrived at home yesterday, and was making things lively about the Fearless barges. That's a way he's got.

DAN RICE's circus boat, Laura No. 2, has been towed to Memphis to have the damages repaired caused by colliding with the City of Quincy.

THE packet Granite State, Captain Kerr, will arrive this morning, and take her departure for Portsmouth and intermediate ports on Friday at 4 P. M.

THE Shippers' Own was presented with a fine set of colors at Nashville, on Thursday. Captain Ryman and his packet are favorites in the Upper Cumberland trade.

THE Belfast, sunk on the falls, lies in such position that when the river goes down this summer she will be dry, and can be dug out. No effort will be made to raise her.

THE fine steamer Mary Miller, Captain F. J. Oakes, is announced for Cincinnati and way points. This boat has the best of accommodations, and is in charge of experienced officers.

CAPTAIN JOHN HEINN, the old veteran of forty years in Red river, has been very successful thus far in obtaining subscriptions to his People's New Orleans and Grand Ecore Packet Line.

IT is reported that Bro. Dentzel, of the New Orleans Picayune, was the lucky holder of a ticket in the Louisville Library drawing, by which he is $4,000 better off than he was before the 31st of March.

CAPTAIN TOBE SPENCER's little steamer Jessie, after a profitable season in the Southern cotton trade, passed Cincinnati on her way to Gallipolis. She was towed up from New Orleans to Louisville by the Grand Lake.

OWING to the high water in the Kentucky river, the George Spangler is compelled to lose a trip. The water in that stream is too high to permit of her passage under the Short-Line Railroad bridge, twelve miles above the mouth.

THE Nellie Peck, Capt. Andy Johnson, A. F. Terry, clerk, leaves Sioux City on the 18th inst., for Fort Benton. The first steamboat passage through Lake Pepin, last year, occurred on the 17th of April.

TUESDAY'S Courier-Journal says: The Charles Brown arrived from St. Louis with 3,200 tons of iron ore, and landed it at the "Pumpkin Patch." She took a tow of 14 barges of coal and left for the South last night.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal talks thusly: We advise all river men not to vote for a man at the coming election who is not in favor of a reduction in wharf tax. A man who is not in favor of it is not fit to be in the Council, and against it, ought to be out of it.

FREIGHT rates have been established by the Keokuk Northern Line Packet Company as follows: From Davenport to St. Louis: grain 12½c per 100 lbs; flour 25c per bbl; pork 37½c per bbl. From Davenport to New Orleans: grain 30c per 100 lbs; flour 55c per bbl.

THE Muscatine Journal of the 10th says: The decline in the river has left a large number of rafts which wintered in the different bays and sloughs of the Mississippi high and dry on land. For this time of the year, the stage of the Mississippi is the lowest ever known by white man.

THE Illinois has abandoned the trade of Illinois river, and gone to the bank. The Clipper and barge has arrived at St. Louis from Boonville, being wanted no longer there. The barge and boat were brought out successfully, although they measured together 320 feet in length. John Porter wants to sell these crafts.

THE St. Louis Democrat says: The Esperanza, from Pittsburgh, brought 500 tons of freight, and put out 250 on the way. She was full of people most of the way and brought thirty here. Six passengers are for St. Paul, some for Keokuk, some for the Missouri, and the rest remain in St. Louis. The Esperanza has had a very encouraging trip.

WE PERCEIVE that Capt. DeHaven is largely recommended for the position, under the new law, of inspector of hulls at New Orleans. Among other prominent names on this list is that of Col. Adams, President of the Board of Underwriters. The captain has certainly been long enough in the steamboat business to know a good hull from a bad one.

TUESDAY'S Cincinnati Gazette says: Advices received here yesterday state the Exporter will arrive from New Orleans to-morrow, and that she will commence loading immediately for return trip to leave Saturday for New Orleans and way points. The principal items of the Exporter's cargo for this city consists of 2,900 sacks salt and 467 cedar logs.

SUNDAY'S Memphis Avalanche says: The Osage and Gasconade rivers, the sources of which are in Southern Missouri, not far from the Arkansas line, are flooded, and an immense rise occurred at Herman, on the Lower Missouri, yesterday, doubtless caused by the water pouring out of both of the above streams. Other Missouri tributaries and the main river itself have not risen more than a few inches.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: "Capt. Ben Cox did not go down this trip on the Fred Wilson. George McBride took his place. Captain Ben is planting 'water-million seed' for a big 'crap.' It is getting to be of very common occurrence for negroes to use their spite against steamboats by suing them in Uncle Sam's Court. A negro was hired on the Dove for $25 per month. The month was up. He wanted $30. Sued the boat and got it. The boat paid it and the costs. If he had been hired at $10 a month, it would have amounted to the same thing in the end. Captain King wants no more 'nigger in his'n.'"

THE death of Capt. Charles Symonds, wrecking master on the line of the Lake Superior and Mississippi road, is announced by the St. Paul press. The deceased was a native of Scotland, and removed to Boston when quite a young man, and went to Minnesota in 1849. Prior to his residence in St. Paul, he had been entrusted with the command of an English merchantman, in which capacity he established an excellent reputation as an efficient and thoroughly capable officer.

THE Friar's Point Delta has an account of the invention, by Capt. Matthews, of the wharfboat at that point, of an elevator, a successful and useful contrivance for transferring freight from boats to the shore, somewhat like the stage plank shifter now in use. It is capable of being adjusted according to the nature of the bank at various landings. The Delta says that the model of this invention has been seen and approved by various steamboatmen, and will be patented soon.

THE Vicksburg Herald says: "The officers of the John B. Maude report the steamer Natchez blown in against the bank at Point Coupee when they passed there Thursday evening. The Ouachita Belle was trying to pull her off, and the tug from Baton Rouge was lightening her. The Maude reports the levees all the way below here in a very precarious condition, and at many places she was forbidden to land for fear of breaking the levee. She would have assisted the Natchez in pulling off the bank where she grounded, but found that enough assistance had been rendered already. The steamer Lizzie will go as high up as Bobo settlement this trip. Bobo settlement is within fifteen miles of Friar's Point, on the Mississippi river, and is higher than any of the Sunflower river boats have gone this season."

Arrested on a Requisition.

Dr. Frank Cooper, of Allegheny, was brought to this city yesterday, from Washington, D. C., on a requisiton from the Governor, and was committed to jail to await sentence, he having been found guilty of adultery. Cooper was called up for sentence on the 21st of March last, when he failed to put in an appearance, and his bond, one thousand dollars, was forfeited. His bondsmen, learning that he was in Washington, procured a requisition and had him arrested, as stated.

Robberies on the Hill.

At an early hour yesterday morning the feed store of Mr. Hunter, located on Center avenue, was robbed in a wholesale way. As some thirty sacks of oats and corn and a bale of hay were carried off, it is naturally supposed that the movement was made by a wagon. The inquiry as to the whereabouts of the police again comes in.

On the same night, the house now known as Dodd's grocery store, on Kirkpatrick street, was robbed of a lot of goods, while there was a general scatterment of articles.

Fatal Accident.

Richard S. Garlick, a young man about nineteen years of age, was instantly killed by an accident on Tuesday afternoon, at the Central Oil Refinery, situated at Kennedy station, on the West Penn Railroad. The deceased was working about a large steam glue kettle, which bursted, and a piece of the flange struck him under the jaw, killing him instantly. Coroner McCallin held an inquest on the body yesterday afternoon, when a verdict was rendered of death from injuries received. The jury exculpated the proprietors of the refinery from all blame, yet recommended that a safety valve be attached when that kind of a kettle is used. The deceased lived with his parents in White Deer township.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

"The Long Strike' still holds the boards at the Opera House. Mr. Stoddart's Moneypenny is one of the most skillful pieces of acting, in its way, we have had this season. He infuses the spirit of a master into his delineation of the character, is wholly absorbed in it and carries his audience with him from the first moment of his appearance. He is always called before the curtain after the third and fourth acts. How such an artist, so sure of success by the force of his genius and so flatteringly received by audiences of our best people, can descend to the flippant use of the name of the Deity as the means of exciting a laugh above stairs, passes our comprehension. We again make our protest against the profane language which Moneypenny is made to utter.

Library Hall.

The Vokes family appeared last evening in a laughable comedietta, entitled "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," before a large and brilliant audience. The cast of the play was as follows: Clara Stanton, Victoria Vokes; Sarah Jane, Rosina Vokes; Emily Morton, Jessy Vokes; Benjamin Buttontop, Fred Vokes; Sampson Biffles, Fawdon Vokes. Clara Stanton and Emily Morton remain at a girl's boarding school during vacation, and the aunt of the latter, proprietor of the school, who is traveling on the European Continent, writes that a foreign nobleman in disguise, is likely soon to call upon them. Benjamin Buttontop, manager of an unlicensed theater, who is pursued by the police, takes accidental refuge in the house, and is supposed by the girls to be the nobleman in question. He lunches with them, joins Clara in songs, and dances a solo polka at their request. His identity is finally revealed, but the girls, desirous of fun, request himself and the footman to join them in a national quadrille. In this the housemaid, Sarah Jane, sometimes joins, and afterwards dances a jig with the footman. The misunderstandings at the commencement of the piece of Buttontop, and his frequent awkwardness during its progress, afford cause for frequent laughter, which is increased by the excellent eccentric acting of the brothers Vokes. The sisters did their part excellently, especially Miss Rosina. The usual running fire of laughter was kept up by the audience throughout. The company from Ford's Opera House, Baltimore, played the comedy of "My Neighbor's Wife" very well. The same plays will be given this evening.

Academy of Music.

The Royal Marionettes drew fine audiences yesterday and last evening, and, of course, pleased all who saw them. The attendance of ladies at the matinee was quite large, and made up from the best families of the city. There will be another matinee this afternoon for the benefit of ladies and children, and an evening performance as usual. If you would make the young folk happy, take them to the Academy.

Trimble's Varieties Theater.

The Jackley family and the congregation of variety stars at this house will appear in an entirely fresh bill this evening. There is no falling off in the attendance, the house being well filled at every performance.

Martin's New Variety Theater.

To-night there will be a change of programme at the new Variety Theater on Fourth avenue, introducing the entire company, thirty-two in number, in new songs, dances, interludes, etc. The audiences are very large.

Robinson's Great Show.

The admirers of first-class circus performances should bear in mind that old John Robinson's great moral circus, to which is attached, a menagerie, museum and aquarium, will pitch its city of tents on the Robinson lot, at the Allegheny end of the Suspension bridge, on Monday next, and remain for several days. It is the boast of the veteran manager that he never deceives the people, but gives them their money's worth and a good deal more. Further particulars can be gained by referring to the advertisement, which may be found in another column.

The Guenther Concert.

The sale of seats for Prof. William Guenther's third grand concert, to be given at Library Hall on Monday evening next, is now going on at Kieber & Bro.'s music store, 122 Wood street. This concert will no doubt be one of the best of its class with which we have been favored this season.

The Orphans' Fair.

Bear in mind the fact that a fair for the benefit of the orphans is now in progress at City Hall. Drop in and see how greatly you can enjoy yourself, and put a little of your surplus change where it will be sure to do good.

District Court—Judges Ewing and White.

The case of McGee vs. McLaughlin is still pending in Judge White's branch, and Kredel vs. O'Neill & Rook is on trial before Judge Ewing. In the latter case the jury is out.

The trial list previously published will be taken up to-day.

Common Pleas—Judges Sterrett and Stowe.

In the case of Daniel Wenke vs. The Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railway Company, previously reported, a verdict was rendered to-day for the plaintiff in the sum of fifty dollars.

In the case of Kirkpatrick & Lyons for use of Fisher Bros. vs. William J. Kountz, the action being to recover on an oil contract, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $4,024.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

The Request of the Police Committee—Request for a Suspension of Business To-day.

Elsewhere in these columns, this morning, is reported the action of the Police Committee, regarding a suspension of business this afternoon during the movement of the funeral procession of Colonel William Phillips. Below we publish the proclamation of Mayor Blackmore, promptly issued in accordance with the action of the committee:

Proclamation.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
PITTSBURGH, April 15, 1874.

In compliance with the request of the Police Committee of City Councils, expressed through resolution adopted at a meeting held this afternoon, I hereby call upon the citizens of Pittsburgh to suspend all business and close all stores, &c., from one until five o'clock P. M. on Thursday, April 16, 1874; and I request also that during this suspension of business the church and all other bells in the city be tolled. This in respect to the memory of our fellow-citizen Col. Wm. Phillips.

JAMES BLACKMORE, Mayor.

THE LATE COL. WM. PHILLIPS.

ACTION OF THE CITY COUNCILS.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FUNERAL.

Remains to Lie in State in City Hall.

Services at the House---Order of Procession---Ceremonies at the Grave, Etc.

A special meeting of the City Councils was held yesterday afternoon, at two o'clock, to take action in regard to the death of Col. William Phillips, member of the Select Branch, and to make suitable arrangements for attending the funeral.

There was a large attendance of members, and the Hall was filled with citizens, who had assembled to witness the proceedings.

The vacant chair and desk of the deceased were heavily draped in mourning, and a large basket of the choicest flowers had been placed on the desk. Both Council Chambers, and the halls leading thereto, were appropriately draped.

Select Council was called to order by President Gross, and after the roll had been called, he stated briefly the object of the meeting. He spoke feelingly of the death of Col. Phillips, and said the meeting was called to take such action as might be suggested.

A motion was then made that the Common Council be requested to meet this branch in joint session. This motion was adopted.

The members of Common Council proceeded to Select Council chamber, the members of the latter body rising as the former entered the chamber.

ANNOUNCING THE DEATH.

As soon as the joint session had been called to order, Mr. House, from the Second ward, arose and said: Mr. Chairman, it becomes my painful duty to announce the death of my colleague, Col. Wm. Phillips. He died at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning, after a protracted illness. I do not deem it necessary to speak further at this time.

President Gross then announced the object of the joint session.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Fetterman moved that a committee of seven be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Councils.

This was adopted, and the chair appointed Messrs. Fetterman, Atterbury, Littell, Ihmsen, Semple, Cunningham and Fulton.

OTHER COMMITTEES.

Mr. Duff offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of five (two from Select and three from Common Council) be appointed to procure carriages and make all necessary arrangements for Councils to attend the funeral of the late Colonel Phillips in a body.

The chair appointed Messrs. Duff, Thompson, Meyran, R. B. Brown and Rafferty as this committee.

THE BODY TO LIE IN STATE.

Mr. Chalmers remarked that, as the body was to lie in state in Municipal Hall, he would move that a committee of five be appointed to remove the remains from the house, to take charge of them while in the building, and to have them returned to the late residence of the deceased.

Mr. Jones suggested that the Police Committee be requested to furnish a detail of police to guard the body.

Mr. Duff said any request made by the Committee of Arrangements would be complied with.

The motion of Mr. Chalmers was then adopted, and the following gentlemen were appointed: Messrs. Chalmers, Scully, Milligan, W. C. Brown, H. D. Rolfe.

The committee was subsequently enlarged by adding Messrs. Lloyd, Herron, R. H. Negley, Knowland, West and Dr. A. G. McCandless.

SUSPENSION OF CITY BUSINESS.

Mr. Duff offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That city officers be and are hereby instructed to suspend business in their respective offices on Thursday, April 16, 1874.

Mr. Negley—The Presidents of Councils have been selected to represent Councils as pall-bearers. It therefore becomes the duty of the Presidents to appoint Presidents pro tem. Dr. Gross appoints Mr. Littell and I appoint Domenic Ihmsen as President pro tem.

A motion was adopted that when Councils adjourn they adjourn to meet at one o'clock on Thursday afternoon to attend the funeral in a body.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Fetterman, chairman of the committee on resolutions, submitted the following report:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from the field of earthly labor Colonel William Phillips, one of Pittsburgh's best and most useful citizens, and for many years, and until the moment of his demise, a member of this body, conspicuously distinguished for all the qualities that beget strong and lasting private friendships, as well as enduring public confidence, respect and gratitude; and,

WHEREAS, While bowing to the will of the Almighty, it is but proper that so admirable an example of personal amiability combined with the highest type of serviceable citizenship, should depend for tribute not merely on lips dumb-stricken of sorrow, but find permanent testimony on the minutes of these Councils, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of William Phillips these Councils lose one of the most valued members whose official labors for the welfare of Pittsburgh covered a period of twenty years, and were during that time earnest and unremitting, often self-sacrificing, and attended with the best results.

Resolved, That to the personal ability and unceasing exertions of the deceased was due the successful extrication of the city from some of the most critical financial difficulties that ever beset it; and that his experience and honest purpose were to the last a beneficent instrument in controlling its affairs.

Resolved, That we unite with the community, and particularly with all leading industrial interests, in deploring the death of one, of whom it may be said with literal truth, that his place cannot be filled.

Resolved, That in token of the sincere sorrow of these Councils, the Council Chambers and municipal offices be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that the Councils attend the funeral in a body.

Resolved, That all the Municipal offices be closed on Thursday, April 16, 1874, the day appointed for the funeral of the deceased.

Resolved, That as a small and inadequate but most heartfelt tribute to the memory of William Phillips, these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this day's proceedings, and further, that copies thereof duly engrossed be furnished all the journals of Pittsburgh for publication, likewise to the family of the deceased, and one copy framed and hung in the Select Council Chamber.

Pending the adoption of the resolutions, eulogistic remarks were made by S. P. Fulton, Esq., P. H. Laufman, James Littell, Dr. A. G. McCandless, Gregor Fox, John Adams and C. P. Duff.

The resolutions were then adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Dr. McCandless said: I have a remark to make. It is this. When the family were applied to for permission to allow the remains of the deceased to lie in state in City Hall, objections were made. They were averse to permitting the body to be taken to the church which the deceased attended. They consented to have the body brought to this hall, where it may be viewed for the last time by many hundreds who could not go to the house, but upon one condition—that there should be no ostentation; no display.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT.

Mr. Fetterman offered the following:

Resolved, That the family of Col. Phillips be requested to permit his remains to be laid in state in Municipal Hall on Thursday, April 16, 1874, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 12 o'clock M.

Adopted unanimously, and Council adjourned.

Proceedings of Other Bodies.

A number of associations, corporations and committees with which the deceased was connected, also held meetings yesterday, and passed appropriate resolutions, as follows:

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the managers of the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, held Tuesday, April 14th, 1874:

WHEREAS, We have learned, with feelings of profound sorrow, the death of our colleague, Col. William Phillips, a life manager and benefactor of this institution; be it

Resolved, That, as a Board, we will attend the funeral of this large-hearted, sincere and generous man, whose loss we deplore.

Resolved, That in this dispensation of the All-wise Providence, we recognize how frail any reliance is upon mere physical strength. Our public-spirited friend was the impersonation of nature's forces, upon whose energies his fellow-citizens long depended for promoting the growth and development of a region which was vitalized by his spirit.

Resolved, That the eminent services of our departed friend in the Councils of the city, in the promotion of its manufacturing interests, in the opening and enlargement of the avenues of trade and travel, and the success of various departments of business strengthened by his energies, each and all affording testimony to his work, entitle him to be remembered by the name of a public benefactor.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be furnished to his family and the press, and that they be engrossed upon our minutes.

ACTION OF THE SAFE DEPOSIT COMPANY.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Safe Deposit Company, held yesterday, the following proceedings were unanimously adopted:

Again the Directors of the Safe Deposit Company mourn the loss of one of their number, making the fourth who has been called away since its organization.

He who filled the chief office from the inception of this institution is now no more, and we who have been so long associated with him, as a last tribute, record our respect for his memory by ordering the following to be placed on the minutes:

"An all-wise God has taken from us our much loved friend and associate, the President of this Company, William Phillips, and to-day, whilst we bow with anguished hearts submissively to the decrees of Him who doeth all things well, we cannot but feel how great is the loss we have sustained—how deep the void which his death has occasioned.

Resolved, That in the death of William Phillips, our late President, the Safe Deposit Company has lost an earnest and faithful friend, a careful, honest and energetic officer, who ever had the best interests of the institution at heart, and whose zealous devotion thereto was manifested wherever occasion required.

Resolved, That in common with this whole community we feel and mourn the loss of him, whose energy, ability, integrity, indomitable will and fixedness of purpose have brought to a successful issue so many valuable enterprises whereby the public weal has been greatly benefitted, the interests of our city protected, and in the accomplishment of which he sacrificed his life.

We tender to his family, to whom he was a most devoted brother and friend, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their time of trial and bereavement, and pray that He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb may comfort them and assuage their sorrow.

ACTION OF THE FIRE COMMISSION.

A special meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, at two o'clock, for the purpose of taking action upon the death of Colonel Phillips. On motion a Committee consisting of the President, Mr. Wilson, and Messrs. Torley, Jones and Walton, was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions. The committee recommended the following action, and the report was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, With profound sorrow the members of the Board of Fire Commissioners have heard the announcement of the death of Colonel Wm. Phillips, long acknowledged and honored as one of Pittsburgh's most public spirited citizens, and

Whereas, To the influence and exertions of Col. Phillips, perhaps, more than to any other citizen is due the establishment and the success of this Department in which he always took a just pride. Now, therefore,

Resolved That this action be recorded at length upon our minutes.

Resolved, That the Board attend the funeral in a body, and that the Chief and Assistant Chief Engineers, together with four men from each company, in full uniform, join the procession.

It is also ordered:

That the Superintendent of the alarm telegraph arrange for and have the central alarm bell tolled between the hours of two and four o'clock during the movement of the procession.

That the "William Phillips" engine house and apparatus be draped in mourning for thirty days.

ACTION OF THE BOARD OF REVISION.

The Board of Revision met yesterday in Common Council Chamber, B. F. Kennedy in the chair, and Daniel Wenke, Secretary pro tem. On motion the following resolution relative to the death of Col. Phillips was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, By the Board of Revision of the City of Pittsburgh, that being profoundly sensible of the individual merit and official influence of Colonel William Phillips, we have heard of his death with extreme regret. As a public officer he performed all his duties with unquestioned fidelity, and enjoyed, as deserved, universal confidence; as a citizen, a man of unbounded generosity of heart, and one who had the interests of the city as dear to him as his own; with one accord we have expressed a general sentiment of sorrow that the public have been deprived of so efficient an officer, the city of a citizen such as any city can ill afford to lose.

Resolved, That out of respect to his memory this Board do now adjourn to meet on Friday morning.

MEETING OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

A special meeting of the Finance Committee was held yesterday morning, Mr. McCune in the chair.

After the meeting had been called to order, Mr. McCune stated that this was a special meeting to take some action in reference to the death of Col. Phillips, who for so many years has been chairman of this committee. He said it seemed eminently due that formal action should be taken. Sadness weighs heavily upon every member of the committee and of the entire community. He was prepared to entertain any motion.

Mr. J. H. Jones moved that a committee be appointed by the Chair to prepare resolutions expressive of the sense of the Committee.

Mr. Fetterman suggested that a committee of five be appointed with instructions to report at a subsequent meeting of the Finance Committee.

This amendment was accepted, and the motion as amended, was finally adopted and the chair appointed Messrs. Jones, Fetterman, Rolfe, Meyran and McCandless.

On motion of Mr. Jones, Mr. McCune was added to the committee as chairman.

The committee then adjourned.

The Funeral Arrangements.

The following are the arrangements for the funeral, which is to take place to-day:

At ten o'clock the committee of Councils appointed for that purpose will conduct the remains from the residence to City Hall, where they will lie in state until twelve o'clock, when they will be returned to the house.

Services at the house will begin at two o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Pearson, of the First Baptist church.

The funeral cortege will then move in the following order:

Police.
Ministers in carriages.
Pall Bearers.

Masonic Fraternity on foot.
Hearse with the body.
Mourners in carriages.
Councils in carriages.
Fire Department on foot.
Citizens in carriages.

The Masonic Fraternity will take charge of the body at the grave.

The route of procession will be down Third avenue to Smithfield street, along Smithfield street to Liberty street, by Liberty street to Tenth street, and thence along Penn avenue to the Allegheny Cemetery.

Services at the grave by the Rev. D. C. Page, D.D., of the Episcopal church, and the Rev. J. J. McIllyar, prelate of the Masonic fraternity.

The funeral cortege will no doubt be one of the largest and most imposing ever witnessed in this city.

The Freehold Bank.

At a meeting of the directors of the Freehold Bank, in which Colonel Phillips was a director since its organization, held yesterday, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Providence to remove from the field of earthly usefulness Colonel William Phillips, a well-known citizen of Pittsburgh, who was a director of this bank since its organization, therefore

Resolved, That in the death of William Phillips this bank has lost a valued officer, whose labors have been unremitting for the interests of the institution, whose counsel and abilities were always at the service of the bank, and whose experience and judgment have greatly tended to its success.

Resolved, That in common with the municipality whose affairs he has in the main directed during many years past, and the many other corporate and industrial interests with which he was identified, we mourn his loss as that of one whom it will be impossible to replace, and commend his character and energy to the young men of the day as an eminently proper one to emulate.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread at large upon our minutes, and that a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased, and likewise to the press of Pittsburgh for publication.

General Suspension of Business.

The Police Committee of the City Councils met in regular session last evening, Mr. Duff in the chair.

Mr. Watson offered the following which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Mayor be requested to issue his proclamation requesting the citizens to suspend all business and close all stores, &c., from one till five o'clock P. M., of Thursday, and that during this intermission in business, that the church and all other bells in the city be tolled in respect to the memory of Col. William Phillips.

On motion the chief of police was instructed to order out all the uniformed men that can be spared, to join in the procession.

On motion the Board of Fire Commissioners were requested to have the central alarm bell tolled during the time the body of Col. Phillips lies in state in Municipal Hall.

The committee declined to transact any routine business, and adjourned.

DEATH OF A PRINTER.

Meeting of Compositors—Resolutions of Respect.

As noticed elsewhere, Mr. Henry P. Ashe, a well known and respected compositor of this city, died at an early hour yesterday morning. In the afternoon a meeting of the printers of the COMMERCIAL, Leader, Dispatch and Telegraph was held in the composing room of the COMMERCIAL, to take appropriate action.

Mr. Walter Burcher was called to the chair.

On motion, Mr. James Onslow, Mr. James H. Clark and Mr. Hugh Adams were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings of the meeting on the demise of their friend and late associate.

While the committee were preparing their report, eulogistic remarks were made by intimate friends of deceased, and a committee was appointed on funeral arrangements, as follows: Messrs. J. W. Douglas, George Dabney and John F. Armstrong.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The committee reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We have learned with feelings of unfeigned sorrow, of the death of our late associate and fellow-craftsman, Mr. Henry P. Ashe, who, by his quiet manner and gentlemanly, unobtrusive deportment, in the discharge of his duties as compositor and proof-reader, endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact; therefore,

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the inscrutable decree of Him who doeth all things well, and without whose knowledge a sparrow falleth not to the ground, we cannot refrain from expressing our sad regrets that our friend and brother, whom we have known so long and loved so well, should be thus early in life taken from us.

Resolved, That in the death, by that fell destroyer, consumption, of Mr. Ashe, the profession has lost an honorable, skillful, conscientious member, his family an affectionate husband, indulgent father, and dutiful son and brother, to all of whom we tender our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of bitter affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings, properly engrossed, be furnished the widow of deceased.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from the late residence of deceased, No. 34 Colwell street.

The New Ladder Trial.

A trial of the Skinner Ladder and fire escape took place yesterday afternoon on Fifth avenue, near the Postoffice, and was very successful. The ladders were run up a distance of some eighty feet, and several men ascended. The top or fly ladder was then taken off and two others run up together with two lines of hose. Two members of the fire department ascended, and two streams were thrown up Fifth avenue, from the top of the ladder, then some sixty-five or more feet high, the Henry Hays engine being used. A large crowd attended, and the expressions generally were strong in approval of the new apparatus.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

THE Rev. Alexander Clark will this evening deliver a lecture at the Bellefield Presbyterian church on "A Race of Mimics."

THE Allegheny ladies visited three saloons on Federal street yesterday, and a number of others, but did not succeed in inducing any of the proprietors to sign the pledge.

ABOUT two o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. J. Kennedy's grocery store, No. 5 Tannehill street, was entered by thieves, and $137 stolen from the money drawer. No clue to the burglars.

THE two boys named Norrs and Henry, who were charged before Acting Mayor Neillie, of Allegheny, with stealing oats from John Galley, had a hearing yesterday afternoon and were held for court.

THE will of Henry Pengel, formerly of Allegheny, was filed this morning and admitted to probate. The whole of his estate, he bequeaths to his wife Maria, and also appoints her sole executrix. The will is dated February 5, 1863.

THE inauguration concert of the grand organ of the Pittsburgh Female College will be given at the institution this evening. A splendid programme has been prepared, and those favored with an invitation will have an opportunity of enjoying rich music from one of the grandest organs in the country.

THE inauguration concert of the grand organ of the Pittsburgh Female College will be given at the institution this evening. A splendid programme has been prepored, and those favored with an invitation will have the opportunity of enjoying rich music from one of the grandest organs in the country.

A CORRESPONDENT calls the attention to a brake in the water pipe opposite No. 85 Locust street, which has been wasting water for the past two weeks. He says: "The result is that the street which was recently graded, but not paved, is almost an impassable mud hole. Whose duty is it to have it repaired?"

THE crusading ladies of this city were too much fatigued to resume the work yesterday, and remained in meeting at the rooms of the Alliance during the entire day. The exercises consisted of prayer, singing and informal discussions upon the best method of conducting the crusade, and of the result of the work already done.

HON. S. J. R. MCMILLAN, a native and formerly a member of the bar of this city, but who for some fifteen years past has been a resident of Minnesota, has been appointed by the Governor of that State to the Chief Justiceship of the Supreme Court. Judge McMillan at the time of his appointment, was serving his second term on the Supreme Bench of the State. He is well known and highly esteemed here.

THE driver of Carson Bros'. sewing machine wagon last evening placed his own life in jeopardy, as well as the lives of a man and woman riding in the vehicle. He attempted to drive across the Fort Wayne Railroad track on Federal street, Allegheny, before an approaching locomotive, which was a short distance off, and the horse was frightened and made a spring forward, carrying away the forepart of the wagon, and throwing the three persons upon the track. The locomotive was stopped a few feet from the demolished wagon.

SAYS the New York Commercial Advertiser: The ladies of Pittsburgh having allowed a sufficient time to elapse for their finger nails to grow, announce that now they are ready to renew the crusade, whether the Mayor prohibits it or not. We don't envy the Pittsburgh policeman, upon whom shall devolve the duty of arresting the first one of them. That St. Louis reporter's pen-picture of Salvina, as "the Hyrean tiger disturbed at his feast of blood," isn't a circumstance to that of the average crusaders, interrupted in her fight with some harmless, good-natured vendor of lager.

THE Washington Star of Tuesday says: This morning special Detective Jas. Blondon, of Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by Mr. Alexander Postley, arrived here with a requisition of Gov. Hartranft, for the arrest of Dr. E. F. Cooper, who was convicted in that city of adultery with one Lollie De Mott on the 29th of December last, and was released on $1,000 bonds pending a motion for a new trial, Mr. Postley going on his bond. Application was made for a warrent to Chief Justice Cartter about 9:30 o'clock, and the papers being in form, the warrant was issued, and in a short time Mr. B. had him in custody. He will leave for Pittsburgh this afternoon.

LADIES' BIBLE SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting—Interesting Report of the Secretary—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Bible Society of Allegheny, was held on Monday evening last at Dr. Swift's church, when the report of the Secretary was received. We give below extracts containing the more important points:

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

There is perhaps no labor in which Christians are engaged, that meets with more universal favor than the work of the Bible Society. It is then, with the happy assurance, that this society has heretofore, and will continue to meet with the sympathy and good will of all, that we present the work of another year to our Christian friends.

In looking over the past year, we are again reminded of the love and care of our Heavenly Father, in that our lives have been precious in His sight; and with but one exception we are all here—and are still permitted to be workers together with our Lord. The one taken from us is Miss Sarah Nimick. We pause before we pay a word of tribute to a character so pure, so elevated and so refined with Christian love as was that of this dear one. She was unobtrusive and amiable in her disposition, eminently endowed with the grace of the Spirit, which are love, joy, peace, meekness, gentleness. She was ever ready to speak in the cause of truth and right, yet no wounding word could fall from her lips, for in them was the law of kindness. It seems but a few days ago since we met her kindly face, but she is not, for God took her.

During the past year we have met regularly on the first Monday of each month. Our meetings here continue well attended. The reading of our Bible women's reports give great interest to these meetings. We have had three Bible women occupying useful fields of labor in this interesting part of the work of our society. One of these was compelled to give up her work by a long and severe illness, the other two have been constantly employed, and we feel that their labors continue to have a blessed influence on those among whom they visit. The number of visits made by the Bible women during the past year is four thousand five hundred and thirty.

INTEMPERANCE.

Among others a visitor writes April, 1873: "In a home where drunkenness and sin have reigned, the wife was suddenly taken ill. She had lived a careless, wicked life, and had been often entreated to chonge her sinful course, but in vain. She died in great agony of mind as well as body. She found a wounded spirit more than she could bear. The men engaged in the liquor business in the neighborhood, went in to see her, and seeing the wretched, desolate condition of the drunkard's home, offered to bury her. It is almost impossible to introduce the Gospel, where Alcohol reigns. When will it be dethroned?" The same visitor writes, "As I walked home one evening after my daily rounds, I could recollect, and count seven families ruined by drink, all living near each other. In an another locality nineteen families, every one of whom uses stimulants as a beverage." The same states "that she had found sorrow in 750 families from the use of intoxicating drink during the last year."

In our last year's report, we merely alluded to the ravages of intemperance, as seen by the Bible women in the houses of those among whom they visit. The enemy seemed to have gained the day, and were proudly triumphant over their victory. Now we can but stand aside in wonder at what our eyes see and our ears hear. We thank God and take courage, when we see that the hearts of Christian women are being stirred to a sense of their duty, and in God's own way, in the spirit of faith and humble trust, are looking to Him who only can save them. We hope and believe the long looked for day is approaching, when not only the curse of intemperance shall be blotted out forever, but when every form of immorality shall be swept away; when the promises of God's word shall all be fulfilled, the heathen be given to Christ as his inheritance—our own beloved land standing first among the nations in honoring His name, and when the days of our mourning shall be ended.

PRESBYTERY MEETINGS.

United Presbyterian Church.

The Presbytery assembled in the Third U. P. church, Ridge street, Allegheny, yesterday morning at half-past nine o'clock, and was opened with prayer by the Moderator, Rev. J. W. Bain.

The petition of the Central church, Allegheny, mentioned in yesterday's report, was referred to a committee consisting of Revs. Calvert, Kennedy and McCutcheon, who presented a report, but no action was taken upon the petition.

The Rev. Mr. Collins was appointed to moderate a call in the Fourth church, when desired.

Messrs. W. C. Cherry and W. A. Edie delivered trial discourses for licensure, and Mr. W. J. Cooper for ordination. The licenses were subsequently granted, and arrangements were made for Mr. Cooper's ordination.

Revs. D. M. Thorn, J. S. Brandon and W. H. McMullin and Elders Knox, Miller M. McCutcheon were elected delegates to the meeting of the General Assembly in May next.

The Rev. J. W. Witherspoon was re-elected Superintendent of Missions and Mr. J. M. Davidson, Financial Agent.

A series of preambles and resolutions was unanimously adopted, which set forth that the traffic in intoxicating liquors whether by manufacture, sale or use, except for sacramental and medicinal purposes is sinful and constitutes one of the most glaring evils of the day and therefore required the members of the Presbytery to have no participation in the evil. The resolutions also indorsed the women's movement. Adjourned.

REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Pittsburgh Presbytery of the Reformed Presbyterian church met in the Central R. P. church, Sandusky street, Allegheny, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and half an hour was spent in devotional exercises with special reference to the case of Mr. A. M. Milligan, who is dangerously ill.

After devotional exercises the Presbytery was constituted with prayer by Rev. J. Crozier, Moderator pro tem.

Dr. J. R. W. Sloane was chosen Moderator, T. C. Sproull, Clerk and S. J. Crowe, Assistant Clerk.

A large number of papers were handed in from the various congregations under the care of Presbytery and were disposed of generally to the satisfaction of those who presented them, and much routine business was transacted.

A call was presented to Mr. J. C. McFeeters, from Parnassus and Manchester congregations, and by him accepted. Arrangements were made for his ordination and installation over the congregations June the 19th, 1874.

Another call from West Hebron, New York, was presented to Mr. J. F. Crozier.

Trials for licensure, consisting of critical exercises, sermons and lectures, were delivered by Messrs. T. J. Allen, M. A. Gault and J. M. Crozier. These exercises were criticised, and heartily sustained. The candidates were then examined in theology and church history by Rev. Wm. Slater, after which they were licensed to preach the Gospel.

The Presbytery expressed its warmest sympathy with the self-denying efforts of the ladies of this country who are endeavoring to banish from our land the curse of intemperance, after which the Presbytery adjourned to meet at Slippery Rock church on the second Tuesday of October, 1874.

Another Printer Gone.

But a short time since we recorded the death of a printer long attached to this office, who was well-known and highly esteemed among the craft. We are now called upon to report another break in the ranks—the demise of Mr. Henry P. Ashe. This sad event occurred at one o'clock yesterday morning. It was not unexpected. Mr. Ashe was several months ago stricken down by that fell destroyer consumption, and for some time past his friends as well as himself had given up all hopes of his recovery. Deceased was but thirty-one years of age and leaves a wife and two children. He came to this city from his native place, Dayton, Ohio, in 1864, after having honorably served a full term in the Union army. After working at the case for a considerable time in this office he took the position of proof reader, remaining for two years. Subsequently he held the assistant foremanship of an afternoon paper, and then resumed the proof readership of the COMMERCIAL, which position he held and acceptably filled at the time of his last sickness. He was a good printer, an affectionate husband and father, and dies leaving no enemies behind him. The action of the printers in meeting assembled yesterday, is reported elsewhere.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Business Men Bound by Promises Made in Circulars.

We find the following in a late issue of the St. Louis Democrat. In the bushel of chaff about Chicago's commercial shortcomings is one grain of wheat—the decision as to the liability of business men for promises made through the medium of circulars:

The house of Hall, Kimbark & Co., of Chicago, claims to be one of the leading iron firms of that city of large pretensions and small performance. It is probably a fair sample of the business houses of that sweet-scented village. Chicago is nothing unless tricky. For smartness it beats the world. The merchants consider it "cute" to circulate lies about the men of rival cities, and the more groundless and barefaced their falsehoods, the more do they pride themselves upon their "enterprise." Rotten corn, murrained beef, trichina pork, blue milk and pasteboard soled shoes are the principal commodities that Chicago sends abroad as first-class articles.

Chicago drummers are noted for their consummate impudence and cheek. They go everywhere, but one of them seldom visits a town more than once. As advertisers, the Chicago merchants are immense. They will publish an advertisement of a damaged lot of goods as coming fresh from the manufactories, when, in truth, the same stock has been on sale in Boston ever since the Bunker Hill monument was erected. The favorite mode of advertising in Chicago is by means of printed circulars. These are usually crammed full of lies designed to deceive the honest country dealer, and wheedle him out of his money. Chicago enterprise consists in sending these lying circulars to the customers of merchants of other cities, many of whom bite at the gilded bait, and all get wofully bitten. But the Chicago drummer sometimes overreaches himself in attempting to overreach others, and then he squeals like a Chicago hog with trichina in his kidneys. Here is a case in point:

In February, 1873, the great Chicago iron house of Hall, Kimbark & Co. scattered broadcast, through the mails, a printed circular offering to sell Jenks' patent seat springs for $2 per pair—an article that cost them at that time about $1 40 per pair. Mr. Geo. D. Hall, a heavy iron dealer of St. Louis, received one of these circulars by mail, and immediately telegraphed to the Chicago house to send him three thousand pairs. The Chicago firm saw that they were detected in their trick, and refused to fill the order. Mr. Hall determined to hold Chicago to her word, and, after some sharp correspondence, he caused a suit to be filed in the Circuit Court here against Hall, Kimbark & Co. for $5,000 damages. Soon after this a member of the Chicago firm arrived in this city on his way to the Mardi Gras festival at New Orleans, and notice of the suit was served on him by the sheriff. The case was transferred to the United States Circuit Court and the trial took place, Hon. J. C. Orrick appearing for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Lee and Adams for the defendants. Depositions were read, showing that the Chicago house considered the order of Mr. Hall an unusually large one, and for that reason they refused to fill it; but on the other hand it was proven that the same house had filled a larger order on the terms advertised in their circular. Mr. Orrick made a magnificent speech, expounding the law and the custom among merchants with great clearness and force. The jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,250—being the difference between the price of the spring at the date of the circular and the price a week or two later, when the rate was increased to about $1 60. The principle was settled that when a merchant sends a circular by mail offering to sell an article at a stated price, he is bound to fill an order at that price, when it comes by due course of mail, unless his circular contains a reservation or a limit as to time, &c. This sum is the exact amount that Mr. Hall expected to recover, but he placed his demand at a higher figure, in order to tickle the vanity of Chicago, which delights in round numbers. When Chicago merchants attempt to steal customers from other cities by false promises, they must expect to get picked up occasionally and caught on the fly. As a good many merchants in Illinois were deceived by this bogus circular, there will be other suits instituted when the result of this trial becomes known. "Let the galled jade wince."

POLITICAL.

State.

Hon. George Lear, of Bucks county, will be a candidate for Congress in that district, and will doubtess be nominated and elected.

The Warren Democratic Committee have selected Captain R. Taggart, Charles Dinsmoor and E. B. Eldred to represent that county in the Democratic State Convention.

The Beaver Argus and Radical says: Some of the leading lawyers of the Commonwealth, including leading friends of the new Constitution, have written the committee to whom were referred the proposed amendments to the Constitution, recommending the passage of a bill authorizing the appointment of a commission to propose such amendments as are found necessary to the next Legislature for adoption. This plan will probably be adopted. It has already been demonstrated that a number of amendments are absolutely necessary and it is important, as the Constitution can only be amended once in five years, that all that are now required should be submitted at the same time. It will require time and reflection to prepare these, and there is no better way than to refer the question to a commission composed of seven or nine of the ablest men of the State.

It is a real pleasure to see the growing proofs of interest which are taking place in the welfare of the prisons and public institutions of our land, and especially in regard to that powerful means of improvement—reading.

The Senate Military Committee is considering a proposition looking to the preservation of the records of the war, by printing those portions which are essential to a full and impartial history.

First-class carpenters in Chicago who were employed a year ago at $3 per day, are now glad to get $1 50 per day, and this decline in the cost of labor runs through the scale of employments.

A movement is on foot among politicians at Washington, for a recognition of Cuban independence by this government, and it is intimated that the step is regarded favorably by prominent officials.

A Kentucky paper says: "It is impossible in Kentucky to hang a man who has either money or respectable connections, and who has committed a murder." Kentucky is a Democratic State.

The importation of peanuts from Africa is one of the little commercial speculations which Boston has just recovered. Two vessels arrived the other day with nine thousand bushels apiece.

Germany continues to make strenuous and systematic efforts to occupy those commercial positions which, like similar ones in military operations, may be designated as commanding.

A St. Louis paper affirms that every one of the two or three painters in that city could have done a better business mending tin pans. Perhaps they don't mix their colors with brains.

The whisky men of Frankfort, Kentucky, have determined to establish a semi-weekly paper in their interest. It is to be called The True Reformer, which sounds slightly sarcastic.

AUCTION SALES.

SECOND
OF
Building Lots,
IN WEST LATROBE.
THE UNDERSIGNED WILL OFFER AT PUBLIC SALE,
Wednesday, April 22d,
50 LOTS
IN THEIR PLAN OF WEST LATROBE, TOGETHER WITH THE Homestead or Brick Mansion,
Containing 4 Rooms and Kitchen, and large Hall on first floor, and 5 Rooms on second floor, on Lot No. 1 in the town plot, and having about 1 Acre of Ground attached. Also, the Material in a Frame Barn 40x60 feet. The large number of Lots already sold and the wealth and the ability of the purchasers, insures the success of West Latrobe as a town, and the erection of first-class houses, a number of which are already completed and occupied, and others are in progress. No more beautiful location for a town can be found west of the mountains, lying on the west bank of the Loyalhanna river, and being gently undulating makes it easy of drainage. Its streets are 60 feet in width and the Lots all have a frontage of 50 feet and vary in depth from 120 to 180 feet. A new iron bridge to span the Loyalhanna and connect its main avenue with Depot street in Latrobe is in contemplation and will undoubtedly be built.
Latrobe is destined to take a place in the front ranks of manufacturing centers, with its unbounded facilities for transportation, fuel and water. Three large Coal Companies are now in successful operation within one mile of the town, and another will soon be commenced. The Ligonier Valley Railroad is graded and ready for the iron which when completed will give access to the inexhaustible supply of iron ore and other minerals with which the Chestnut Ridge and Laurel Hill abound.
Latrobe, from the natural advantages that it possesses, must be the base of operations for the utilizing of these minerals. This will be the closing sale of Lots. They will not again be offered at public sale.
Conditions are one-third of the purchase money to be paid in hand, and the balance in two annual payments with interest, and to be secured by judgment bond or mortgage. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock P. M.
LLOYD, HUFF & WATT.
